GREAT RACERS TO MEET AT THE SPA

The Season at Saratoga Promises to be One of Most Brilliant Yet.

GOOD FIELD FOR BRIGHTON DERBY

Accountant Will Make Trial and Belmore, The Quail, Perverse and Kuroki Will Be in the Running—Closing Days at Brighton Beach.

By J. S. A. Macdonald.
NEW YORK, N. Y., July 28.—As the summer of Brighton, with its merry season of turf and surf, waxes the glorious orb of Saratoga's carnival of gold and pleasure, is just now furnishing the prospect of the metropolitan sporting world through the languorous days of August, Saratoga is the big thing in the minds of racing and sport-loving votaries at this moment from Sandy Hook to the Golden Gate, for, in recent years, the famous old Spa town, with its gay frivolities and mad money whirl, concerns not only the country over, where men and women who know a real good time when it comes their way, are to be found. After three weeks of invigorating frolic in the ocean surf and a better than even break with the bookmakers, the circuit followers are willing and ready to depart from the seaside race course at Brighton Beach for Saratoga Springs, N. Y. We close here at Brighton Beach on Saturday, August 4th, with the annual renewal of the Brighton Derby of $15,000 and then jump to Saratoga, where the game resumes on Monday, August 6. For twenty-two days racing will go on there, or until nightfall of Thursday, August 30. What a zest of anticipation is right at this moment, stirring the hearts and fancies of thousands of men and women! The money to be spent and already expended for Saratoga gowns must be tremendous for so unquestioned an authority as Edwy Langtry stated, after viewing Saratoga's display of wealth and fashion in 1905: "Saratoga women spend more for clothes than any other of their sisters the world over. They know how to wear them, too, much better than the women of Monte Carlo, N. Y. and Ostend."

Lid Will Be Off.
Up to four years ago King Thoroughbred and King Chance held dual sway at Saratoga. Now you must rank with the potentates of the race track and gaming clubs the sister sovereign of Fashion. As a matter of fact, to be in the swim in the present day Saratoga season, you must do business with a check book. You cannot wear smart, elegant, play the races at the track in the afternoon, and two look and fortune beneath the green light of the roulette table at night by doing so for the piper out of your pocket. You would wear the pocket side shiny and that would never do. All things considered, the coming season at the Spa is certainly going to be as brilliant and renowned as any preceding. Good horses, slappings of money, and wide open clubs, where the dealers will work in shifts to accommodate patrons possessed of the idea of "taking a little chance" point to that conclusion.

Concerning the clubs, upper Broadway understands to-day that Canfield's great resort, the Saratoga Club House, with its splendid dining halls and wonderful gaming apartments, will surely show shining lights from its Venetian windows on the night of August 4th in line with the custom observed there for years of throwing open the establishment on the night of the Saturday preceding the Monday upon which the racing is inaugurated. In other words, the "lid" will be off at the Spa again this year. There is the keynote of the piper's lay. Without gaming at Canfield's, the Bridge Whist Club, the Manhattan Club and a dozen other places, Saratoga falls into the commonplace of a sporting standpoint. With Canfield's doing business all is merry. Otherwise Saratoga awakes on its inaugural day under a wet blanket, with the it continues to bear a branch to the last day and night. One thing is sure, Richard Canfield will not himself become identified with the clubhouse's operation. He is out of the business for good and all. He wants to sell the clubhouse at $500,000, but is not averse to leasing it. Rumor has "Sam" Emory, owner of the first Brooklyn Handicap winner, Dry Mono, pole, and a partner of "Jay" Johnson in the clubhouse at Long Branch, N. J., fifteen years ago, as the lessee. Emory won $100,000 when the colt Douxtemps went through at 3 to 1 last winter at New Orleans. He has invested this amount in a lease on Canfield, just as to whether or not he can arrange matters with the powers that be at Spa.

HARVARD CREW TO RACE CAMBRIDGE IN ENGLAND

MUST DRAW LOTS FOR AUTO TROPHY

Thirteen Out of Sixty-Three Contestants Complete Tour With Clear Scores.

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER RUN

Comparatively Few Accidents and None of Passengers on Cars Were Injured.

(By Associated Press.)
BRETONWOODS, N. H., July 28.—The thirteen automobile tourists who to-day finished the 124-mile run through New York, Canada, Maine and this State without penalties during the ten days' test over a great variety of roads, for the second trophy offered by Charles J. Glidden, of Lowell, Mass., will probably draw lots for the prize.
Sixty-three cars started from Buffalo on July 12th, and made runs averaging about 130 miles a day, with three stops at Saratoga, Quebec and Rangely. When the tourists left Rangely Place this morning for the final 125 miles run to Bretonwoods, fourteen had clear scores. No penalties were inflicted until the cars were within six miles of Bretonwoods, when Ezra E. Kirk, of Buffalo, slipped the chain and lost two minutes.
There were two other accidents to cars which were not in the hunt for the trophy. At Dixfield, Maine, a steam car, owned by Walter White, of Cleveland, Ohio, caught fire and was destroyed. A few minutes later the car of A. H. Grant, of Tarrytown, N. Y., ran into a ditch and was considerably damaged. It was thought that many of the cars would suffer while climbing Cherry Mountain, in Jefferson, a short distance away from the finish, but fourteen accomplished the feat without penalty. The Kirk car having its accident some distance further on.

Have Clean Scores.
The following are those who finished with clean scores:
F. S. Plinn, Pittsburg.
G. W. Davis, Buffalo.
W. E. Wright, Springfield, Mass.
W. C. Walker, Hartford.

With one exception, all the teams belonging to the Richmond Amateur Baseball League turned out yesterday, and gave good exhibitions of the great national game. The Binders failed to put in their appearance against the Linkers, and thereby forfeited the game to their opponents by the score of 9 to 0. The Locos won handsily against the Cans, the difference between the tallying at the end of the game being ten runs. The remaining two were close.

The Locos still hold their lead at the top of the ladder, but the chairman is not far behind them, and the Snowballs and Linkers are struggling hard for third place, with the balance being just one game less on the debit side in favor of the former team. The rest of the teams range in rather closer order to the bottom.

As it is, however, the league is holding together remarkably well, and there is still plenty of time for many shake-downs and changes before the final result of the Crimson Crew That Beat Yale Goes Across to Meet Cambridge September 8th.

COACH IS VERY OPTIMISTIC

Race May Be Beginning of Regular International Series.

Binders Fail to Appear

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, July 28.—Several members of the Harvard University eight-oared crew which will race against Cambridge on the Thames River on September 8th, called for Liverpool yesterday on the White Star liner Cedric. The men will be joined abroad by Daniel A. Newhall and Sidney W. Fish, who are already in London, while Charles F. Morgan will sail in a few days. By the time the men are ready to meet Cambridge the make-up of the crew will be practically the same as that which defeated Yale last month on the Thames River at New London. There was a small crowd on the pier yesterday to wish the men good luck. Many of the college men are away on vacation, and only a few of them, who happened to be in town, were present on the steamer before she sailed. With one or two exceptions, the men have been out of training since the race with Yale of June 28th.

Coach Confident.

James Wray, the coach, looks upon the coming match with Cambridge in an optimistic light, and said the men would lose no time in getting down to good, hard training when they got abroad. The men who sailed yesterday were Robert L. Bacon, No. 6 in this year's boat and captain-elect of the '07 crew; Oliver Dwight Filley, stroke and member of the Harvard eight of 1905 and 1906; Gordon G. Glass, No. 4; John Richardson, No. 5; Robert M. Tappan, bow, and Francis M. Blagden, coxswain; Richard M. Faulkner, captain of the freshman crew this year and substitute for the varsity; Samuel Warren, Roger Derby, manager of the '06 crew, and James Wray, the coach of the Harvard crew. The crew will be met by President Goldsmith, of the Cambridge Club, and will begin practice early in August. Races will be over the regular university course from Putney to Mortlake.

The two shells which Harvard will use were shipped by steamship from Boston on Wednesday.

First of Series.
It was learned from several Harvard men, who joined the oarsmen on the pier, that the race to be held in September will be the first of a series of international regattas.

Richmond took both games from Lynchburg yesterday. Twirler Salve defeating Reiss in the first game, and Eckstone handling the pitcher, won the package in the last one. Salve won his game by the score of one to nothing, Hicks batting in the single tally in the ninth inning, after two men were out. It was three to two, with the Lawmakers swinging to the triplet, in a second inning, and about a thousand enthusiastic fans went ecstatic with delight because of the downfall of the leaders. Both exhibitions were great, there being no semblance of wrangling or nonsensical kicking, and from the time that Umpire Newhouse called the batteries at 2:30 o'clock, until almost 7 o'clock, those game rosters sat in the grandstand in the bleachers and on the green grass in the field, and looked extremely happy.

Hicks Won the Game.

Mr. Rowe Hicks if you please, won the first game, and won it, too. Eckstone, who had pitched the previous game, was "Pug" just simply smacked one right on the nose and it went to the left garden, but with too much suddenness for the player in that territory to place his hands upon it.
There hadn't been a score until this inning. Salve had held the Shoemakers at every stage of the game, and Reiss had the Lawmakers at his mercy. Eight innings passed off smoothly and the victors had their chance in the ninth. It was one, two, three with them for Walsh and Cook bit at the drops from the left wing. Salve, and Reiss could do no better than to get one to Reiss and join the mourners at first.
And it looked just like the Lawmakers were in the same boat in the ninth. Siebro got one to Bowen, and died at the first rubber. Doran binged one on the bottom, and Reiss, who had been called up, hit it. At this stage of the proceedings the rosters settled back for the extra inning contest.

It certainly looked as though the south-paw would have to work overtime. But then Cuddy got biffed on the arm. It was a hard blow, and he walked to the initial station. A minute later he had pliffed the second base, and was resting very comfortably there when Hicks came to the bat. Reiss had two strikes on him, and he had to get the next one over. He got it half-way across the plate, when "Pug" stuck out his bat and stopped the whirling of the sphere. He also sent it in the other direction, and before Stewart could get it in left Cuddy was across the plate.

Great Enthusiasm.

There was wildness in the grandstand, there was excitement in the bleachers, and there was a general feeling of goodwill. Whatever faults Hicks may have had were at this moment forgotten, for he had won the game for his team, and won it at a time when everything looked black. As the Richmond boy walked into the diamond, he was forced and the word "forced" is used advisedly—to accept several presents, mostly greenbacks, and these are taken in exchange for food and other things.
Eckstone held the Shoemakers at critical times in the second game, and while the hits were even, Reiss allowed the Lawmakers in two innings to bunch him up, and this was responsible for his defeat.

Daringer's error in the first inning, followed a few minutes later by Bentley's costly drop of the ball at the home
